(BY THE TIMES' SPECIAL WIRE)

ST. LOUIS (Mo.), June 17.—(Special Dispatch.) The convention today opened with a flourish. Senator Thurston began it. He made the first stirring speech of the convention. Fairbanks' oration was full of sound sense, but he has not the ring of a speaker. Thurston was heard in every part of the hall and he is now one of the idols of the Republicans here. They cheer him when he begins to speak and they have today applauded him at nearly every utterance. Thurston is a natural enthusiast. He is all skin, bones, brains and feeling. He is as thin as a rail, as tall as a steeple and as straight as a pole. His face is long and thin, his eyes blue and expressive, and his long, thin, black hair is brushed well up from a high forehead. His nose is long, thin and sensitive, and when he speaks his nostrils quiver and every atom of his six feet is brought into nervous action. He gestured much as he talked and waited at the close of each period for applause. Some of his remarks will attract special notice and many of his phrases were well turned. His statement that the party wanted a protective tariff which would open American factories to the free-coinage of American muscle was cheered again and again.

A VERMONT YANKEE.

Thurston comes from Nebraska, but he was born in Vermont. His ancestors were blue-blooded Yankees and his grandfather fought in the revolutionary war. Thurston's father was a Union soldier, and died in the service. When Thurston was a baby he moved to Wisconsin and tried to make a fortune in farming. He failed, and the future Nebraska Senator had to hoe his own row. He did farm work and earned some money as a hired man. He then became a teacher, and eventually became one of the leading lawyers of the State. Of late he has been in railroad law, and at the time he was elected to the United States Senate he was the general solicitor of the Union Pacific Railway with a salary of $10,000 a year. Thurston first appeared in national politics as a delegate to the convention of 1884 at which Blaine was nominated. At the convention of 1888 he was elected temporary chairman, and then made a good speech. Now he is getting more honors here than anyone else except Foraker, and he is one of the strong young men of the party. He is very ambitious, and I doubt not he hopes to be President some day.

THE YOUNG MEN.

A large part of his strength comes from his connection with the Young Men's Republican League of the United States, of which he was for some time president. Thurston is not yet 30, and in this we see one of the most remarkable features of this convention. It is a convention of young men. The old warhorses of the party are absent. The petty Presidential candidates were so many that this took away some of the leading figures, but the great statesmen who were not here practically slumped in the face in making such emphatic terms in the platform. As one silver delegate expressed it this afternoon in a quotation: "We will admit you had a right to refuse our love, but why did you kick us downstairs?"

BRYAN'S PREDICTION.

One of the striking faces among the newspaper men of the convention is Congressman Bryan the famous Democratic Populist, and silver agitator of Nebraska. I sat beside him in the convention hall this afternoon. Said he: "I am well satisfied with this convention and I think that we will make a lively fight for the Presidency on a silver issue. The Republicans will try to throw the tariff to the front, but young, and, with the exception of Teller, the men who are running the silver bolt are not with gray hairs.

WEST VS. EAST.

An interesting thing about the platform is that the gold plank was gotten up by the West and not by the East. It was written almost altogether by Hermann H. Kohlstaad of Chicago, and though Henry Cabot Lodge, Tom Platt and the eastern men are satisfied with it, they had nothing to do with its origination. Mr. Kohlstaad outlined the same plank just as it reads in the platform to me four days ago. The East has had little to do with the Committee on Resolutions, and one reason for the choosing of Foraker as the chairman of that committee was because McKinley and Hanna did not want it said that the East had dictated the platform.

H. H. KOHLSTAAD.

The influence of Mr. Kohlstaad at this convention has been great, and he will be one of the influential men of the next four years. He would not accept any sort of an official position and I know he would rather be editor of the Times-Herald than be President of the United States. He has all along frowned upon any straddle as to the money question. He does not believe in winding ways to reach results, but cuts his course straight through to his goal. He is a very honest man and a man of strong convictions. During the past year he has been fighting the boodlers of Chicago, and he is trying to cleanse the Augean stables of Illinois politics. He is no respecter of persons and he is as ready to denounce a millionaire of national reputation as he is the party politicians who are bribed by them.

Mr. Kohlstaad is of German descent.

He began his business career in Chicago as an errand boy, and now, at 42, he is one of the most influential men of the United States. He has the money-making faculty in a remarkable degree, and in addition to his newspaper properties has real estate and other investments which bring him in thousands of dollars a month. I am told he could run his paper at a loss right along and still have money to burn. I don't think he cares for money, and I don't believe in the standard himself of the millionaires of the East could not influence him.

WHAT WILL REED DO?

Sam Fessenden of Connecticut rode over Joe Manley rough-shod in the Southern Hotel, just after Manley had issued his statement which intimated that there was no chance for Tom Reed, and in which he practically gave up the battle. Manley was going through the various and Fessenden laid his hand on his shoulder, stopping him and said: "Joe Manley, you have made the greatest mistake of your life, I tell you. God Almighty hates a quitter." The Reed man felt that Manley should not have quit his fight for their candidate, and his only hope was winning now. Tom Reed will take the action of the convention. He has not gotten a smell, and he is, I am told, exceedingly sore.

REED IS A CURIOUS CHARACTER.

Reed is a curious character. He often acts more like a ten-year-old boy than a man, and he is likely to talk and say mean things. He once compared Manley in private conversation to a very diminutive animal, an unresponsible antecedent, and he is likely to damn his enemies in no uncertain terms. He may refuse to go into the campaign this fall, and may retire from politics. He has said that he would like the leisure of private life, and that he could not afford to devote his best years to Washington when he should be making money for his family. He is not likely to bolt, however, for not long ago, he expressed his opinion of bolters. Some one urged him to go outside his party on certain matters. He replied: "I can't do it. We Republicans are all together and we make good bedfellows. If any one tries to stretch the blanket he will be sure to get outside and expose not only himself but the rest."

I TALKED LAST NIGHT WITH GEN. DAVE HENDERSON ABOUT THE CANDIDATES.

Reed and Allison. Gen. Henderson has, to a large extent, been Allison's manager. Said he: "Tom Reed thinks he was hurt by the candidates of the 'favorite son combine' and that had they not appeared he could have beaten McKinley. He was never more mistaken in his life. McKinley would have taken all the States of the Mississippi Valley and Reed could not have gotten a corporal's guard."

HE BRANCHES OUT.

He studied law in Wisconsin and began his practice at Omaha, Neb. This was twenty-seven years ago. At first clients were scarce. Thurston's bed was his office floor, and at one time his funds were so reduced that he lived for a week on a box of soda crackers. He soon did better, however, and eventually became one of the leading lawyers of the State. Of late he has been in railroad law, and at the time he was elected to the United States Senate he was the general solicitor of the Union Pacific Railway with a salary of $10,000 a year. Thurston first appeared in national politics as a delegate to the convention of 1884 at which Blaine was nominated. At the convention of 1888 he was elected temporary chairman, and then made a good speech. Now he is getting more honors here than anyone else except Foraker, and he is one of the strong young men of the party. He is very ambitious, and I doubt not he hopes to be President some day.

they can't succeed. The Democrats will force the silver issue, and we will have a lively campaign from start to finish."

CHEERS FOR U. S. GRANT.

Ulysses S. Grant, Jr. was chosen as one of the vice-presidents of the convention to represent the State of California. When his name was announced a great cheer went up from 15,000 throats, and the fame of Gen. Grant, Jr. is now living at San Diego, Cal. He has a beautiful home there and is largely interested in real estate. Col. Fred Grant is also here. I saw him and Ulysses Grant, Jr., together last night. Both look very much like their father. Both are stout and stocky, both have the same square face, the same determined features and the same honest-looking eyes as those of Gen. Grant. Col. Fred Grant is a little the taller, and his beard is reddish brown, while that of Ulysses is of jet black, mixed with gray.

Col. Fred Grant had a great deal to do with aiding his father in getting out his book.

He tells me that the new edition, which has just been published, is selling very well. He has charge of Gen. Grant's papers and correspondence, and he says he is now getting over these with John Russell Young, to give Mr. Young some material for a "Life of Grant" which he is writing. I asked him whether the papers and correspondence would ever be published. He replied that he did not think he would publish them verbatim, but that he expected to get the material for a number of interesting magazine articles out of them with which he would amuse his leisure.

LODGE DOESN'T WANT IT.

Henry Cabot Lodge, owing to the failure of Joe Manley, is the natural leader of the "gold" faction. During the convention there has been considerable talk about him as a Vice-Presidential candidate. He is a man of brains, and he would add strength to any ticket. The McKinley men, however, do not want this ticket put forth as dictated in any way by the moneyed East, and while they might have returned to favor Lodge, they have been all along really for a "Life of Grant" which he is writing. I asked him whether the papers and correspondence would ever be published. He replied that he did not think he would publish them verbatim, but that he expected to get the material for a number of interesting magazine articles out of them with which he would amuse his leisure.

I MET SENATOR LODGE IN THE CONVENTION, AND ASKED HIM WHETHER HE WOULD ACCEPT THE VICE-PRESIDENCY.

He replied: "No, I do not want it, and if I should be nominated I would rise in the convention and decline it. To represent Massachusetts in the United States Senate is good enough for me." "How about the platform? Are you satisfied with it?" "Yes, I think it is a very good platform."

"I SUPPOSE YOU HAD SOMETHING TO DO WITH MAKING IT?"

"Well, I had some say as to some things," was the reply.

HANNA AND PLATT.

There has been considerable hard feeling today between Mark Hanna and Tom Platt. Platt has been very warm in his nomination of Morton. "And he wanted to go back to New York able to say that he had dictated both the Vice-Presidency and the gold plank, and had made Mark Hanna come to him. Hanna, in talking about this, said: 'I don't like to see Morton making a bad thing worse by the ticket at the same time.' The truth is that while Platt and the East have apparently had a good deal to do with the gold plank, the McKinley men themselves have been the authors of the planks as they will be presented to the people."

CALIFORNIA WILL PROSPER.

Col. Harrison Gray Otis, editor of the Los Angeles Times, and McKinley's friend in Southern California, tells me that with this platform and McKinley there will be a big era of prosperity, and that California will be the first to boom. He says that Los Angeles will have another railroad from Salt Lake. The city will spend a couple of million dollars on its harbor, and will, in two years, be the most prosperous part of the United States.

"If the Republicans come in," said he, "they will find themselves as little able to settle questions as the Democrats have been in the last three years." "For the moment," Mr. Watkinson continued, "the Democrats seem to have gone to pieces, but when the offices are distributed next year and the battle and resentments begin, and the Republicans go to pieces, then there will be a complete redistribution of party force, and there will be a great and conclusive contest in 1900 between sound and unsound theories of government finance. The coming general election will be largely a struggle for office."

First Test of Strength of the Leaders. It Demonstrates McKinley Will Have a Majority Over All the Vice-Presidential Minority.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—The Republican National Convention cleared the decks for action today. Two sessions were held, one of an hour in the morning, and one of three hours in the afternoon. The permanent organization was effected, and the permanent chairman, Senator John M. Thurston of Nebraska, assumed the duties of presiding officer in a ringing speech at the morning session, and the report of the Committee on Credentials was received and adopted at the afternoon session. This leaves the battle royal over the platform and the nomination of candidates tomorrow. It is probable the platform would have been decided tonight had it not been that a night session would have interfered with the mammoth McKinley parade of marching clubs previously arranged for tonight.

AN ANIMATED SCENE.

Nothing could have been more striking than the scene in the hall, full of the excitement of yesterday, the brilliant, animated and enthusiastic session of the convention today. The vast hall, packed with thousands of delegates, thousands of spectators, keyed to the highest pitch of enthusiasm and responding with cheers and hand-clapping to the electric tones of the music, the hoarse roar of 12,000 voices as it came thundering down to the pit from the electric organ, the cheering of the chiefs, hats and flags, all making a tumultuous note and motion that made the hall beat with the pulse of the nation. The scene was a magnificent one, and the permanent chairman, Senator Thurston, whose words were greeted with a shout of sympathy in the vast concourse of Republicans, seemed to shake the audience free from its lethargy, and with their cheering and cheering every incident evoked cheers.

THE AFTERNOON SESSION.

The afternoon session, the first of the convention, was held in the morning. The report of the Committee on Credentials, which raised the action of the National Committee in giving almost all the 133 counties of the United States to McKinley, and decided the Texas contest in favor of the Grant (McKinley) delegates, and that in Delaware in favor of the Higginson delegates, was presented. The report was adopted with a violent minority report, denouncing the Committee on Credentials for presuming to accept the action of the National Committee. ### THE BATTLE FOR ILLINOIS.

While the convention was proceeding with its work a dramatic scene was being enacted in the Committee on Resolutions. The group of western silver men, led by Senator Teller of Colorado, announced to the delegates that they had decided to support McKinley, and that they would vote for him in the election. This was a surprise to many of the delegates, and it was a blow to the silver faction.

WANT TO GO HOME.

Wet Weather and Cat and Dried Proceedings Fall on Delegates.

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—A chilling rain began at 8 o'clock this morning, and the delegates, who had been expecting a hot day, were disappointed. The rain continued all day, and the delegates were forced to stay in their rooms. The McKinley men, however, were not discouraged, and they continued to work hard for their candidate.

THE PLATFORM BUILDING.

Chairman Fairbanks said: "The chairman of the Committee on Resolutions asks leave for further time and to sit during this morning's session of the convention. It is so ordered." Gen. Powell Clayton of Arkansas said: "Mr. Chairman—Yesterday I introduced a resolution, and it is now under discussion by the full committee. The committee is unable to report this morning, and asks leave of the convention to sit during this morning's session, hoping to be able to report the platform of principles to the convention this afternoon, and on behalf of the committee I ask that leave of the convention."

TODAY'S PROGRAMME.

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—The convention will be brought to a close shortly, if the plans of the leaders be carried out. The programme arranged today contemplates reports from the various committees at the morning session. Then a recess will be taken until 2 o'clock, when the report from the Committee on Resolutions will be taken up. The financial plank will be acted upon. Then the nomination of President will be proceeded with, and after that the Vice-President.

THE NEW YORKERS.

Platt Talking Cautionously—Care Taken not to Antagonize Hanna.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS WIRE)

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—The complex situation last night in which the feud between the New York factions was the principal factor, coupled with a desire to put Hanna and the McKinley managers on record, continued this morning without material change. Platt was up early to see the leaders of the Indiana and Illinois delegations before 9 o'clock. He was pursuing his usual tactics, stating his position to all leaders of delegations without favoring or unfavoring to his cause. He would only say cautiously: "In the event of Morton's defeat on the Presidential issue it is thought that Morton would accept second place and then he would ask for support."

Every care was taken at New York headquarters not in any way to antagonize Hanna or mention him as an enemy of the Morton boom for Vice-President.

Chairman Hackett of the New York committee said: "Hanna cannot be expected to enter into this fight when he has the McKinley fight on his shoulders. Surely he has his hands enough in securing first place for his candidate."

At Ohio headquarters up to 9:30 o'clock, no definite answer had been given Miller or Cornelius Bliss as to their proposition to withdraw from the fight against Morton, and they were settling uneasy, Millinola, however, said there was no doubt that there would be assistance from the friends of McKinley in the West to those in the East who assisted them.

The Morton people this morning figure the following vote for Morton for Vice-President: New York, 16; Connecticut, 12; Delaware, 6; Florida, 6; Maryland, 16; Massachusetts, 30; Michigan, 24; Minnesota, 16; Nebraska, 16; New Hampshire, 16; North Dakota, 16; Ohio, 24; Pennsylvania, 16; Rhode Island, 6; South Dakota, 6; Tennessee, 24; Texas, 16; Indiana, 16; Wisconsin, 16; Vermont, 16; Utah, 16; Mississippi, 16; total, 448. For a choice it would be necessary to have 460 votes.

When Warner Miller was asked to speak upon Hanna's attitude, he said: "Hanna will show his hand after the nomination of McKinley has been accomplished. Wait until then. We had several delegates to the Ohio Quay and Morton, came, and although the issue presented was not as strong as McKinley's, it was a strong one. The satisfaction of all the candidates that he had a clear majority of over a hundred in the convention. The question was the report of the Committee on Credentials, which raised the action of the National Committee in giving almost all the 133 counties of the United States to McKinley, and decided the Texas contest in favor of the Grant (McKinley) delegates, and that in Delaware in favor of the Higginson delegates, was presented. The report was adopted with a violent minority report, denouncing the Committee on Credentials for presuming to accept the action of the National Committee."

ST. LOUIS, June 17.—The announcement made just as the convention was called to order that Foraker would nominate Morton for the Vice-Presidency as soon as the ballot for President was finished, practically settled the gossip of the morning. ### THE PLATFORM BUILDING.

Chairman Fairbanks said: "The chairman of the Committee on Resolutions asks leave for further time and to sit during this morning's session of the convention. It is so ordered." Gen. Powell Clayton of Arkansas said: "Mr. Chairman—Yesterday I introduced a resolution, and it is now under discussion by the full committee. The committee is unable to report this morning, and asks leave of the convention to sit during this morning's session, hoping to be able to report the platform of principles to the convention this afternoon, and on behalf of the committee I ask that leave of the convention."

The Times

ALL ALONG THE LINE.

There must be a good many of Dunham, the San Jose murderer. He is seen about every day at points hundreds of miles apart. He is in Los Angeles. He is likewise in Lower California, Arizona, Nevada and Oregon.

An indignant citizen writes The Times asking why the parents of graduating students should be made to pay 50 cents a seat to see the commencement exercises, as was the case at one particular event. The question is a poser.

This is the season of commencements, when diplomas, orations and soaring ambitions are turned loose in the land. The diplomas and orations are always with us, but it usually takes a cruelly short time to clip the wings of the ambitious. It is fortunate that the crop is perennial.

The First Presbyterian Church has not only renounced the name Westminster, applied to it by the presbytery, but has formally withdrawn from allegiance to that and other general governing bodies of the denomination. It is now Burt Estes Howard's church.

It was a kind thought that gave the poor little waifs a glimpse of salt water yesterday, and made it possible for them to enjoy that some of boyish bliss, a good swim. It takes so little to make a child happy that it seems a pity the grown people do not think oftener of giving pleasure to the little ones in the homes of the poor.

The Great Register of voters is filling up rapidly. Already over 5,000 citizens of Los Angeles county have registered. This year's vote promises to be larger by thousands than ever before. The District Attorney has just placed in the hands of the County Clerk an important opinion respecting the rights of absentees to register by mail, having first made the necessary affidavit before a competent official.

The interview with the secretary of the San Bernardino County Fruit Exchange, published this morning, is a most valuable statement, bearing all internal evidences of frankness and straightforwardness in conducting the public, whose good-will is essential to the success of the organization. It is such a statement as one could expect to see at rest much of the muttering so much in evidence in the exchange.

A complaint has been filed against Trustees C. W. Cosaboom and K. Almond of the town of Long Beach, charging them with violation of the "purity of elections" law, in not filing itemized statements of individual expenses incurred during last April's town election. It is hardly probable that the Trustees spent much in conducting their campaigns, yet the "purity of elections" law is so strict that an affidavit of such fact would be necessary.

A newboy in the contingent of youngsters who spent the day at the beach yesterday secured a somewhat remarkable bit of entomological formation while exploring the beach, the same consisting of a small rock upon and in which a piece of sea weed had grown, the weed having attached to it an oyster-like animal drawing sustenance from the weed. The spectacle was thus made of animal, vegetable and mineral growth, contributing to the support of each.

A San Diego Councilman seems to be in trouble. According to the records of the Council, he challenged anybody to fight with anything from "boasting forks to shooting irons." This man wants to vote on the water question. The law of this State says: "Any citizen of this State who shall fight a duel with deadly weapons, or send or accept a challenge to fight a duel with deadly weapons, shall be allowed to hold any office of profit or to enjoy the right of suffrage under this Constitution." He will probably vote, however.

The scheme to do away with the system by which about thirty men are paid $25 a month to do "fire duty," when called upon, is being advocated by several of the Fire Commissioners. "Callmen" are an old feature of the fire department, but it is a fact, capable of being demonstrated, that the feature is an antiquated piece of furniture and out of place in a modern, up-to-date fire department. Chief Moore estimates that to make these callmen regular members of the department, at a reasonable salary, would entail upon the city an additional expense of about $7000 a year.

The Board of Supervisors has awarded the contract for putting one coat of paint upon the roof and cupola of the Courthouse, and two coats of paint upon all the outside woodwork, which includes, in doors and windows, over 700 openings. The contract price is but $468, the competitors being of the sharp-shooting type. During the opening of bids not less than twenty men lined up at the counter with pencils and paper. Can the work be well done for the amount of the bid? The contract calls for first-class materials. Some of the bids were nearly double the figure at which the contract was awarded.

Various and many are the woes of the City Council. After months of labor in an attempt to produce a hitching ordinance, satisfactory to all, one was brought forth last Monday, which an intelligent public is now declaring to be as clear as mud, and like unto a slave in the matter of holes. The Councilmen can, and doubtless will, crush these objections, by retorting that no one of them professes to have more than a medium of legal intelligence, the City Attorney being paid to do their thinking, and also that in putting forth an ordinance, they do not also guarantee to furnish the brains necessary to understand the same.

Long Beach Trustees Charged with Violation of Law.

Ybarra Sentenced to Imprisonment in San Quentin.

Question of Disposing with Callmen Discussed by Board of Fire Commissioners—Spat Between a Commissioner and Chief.

The stagnation of business at the City Hall continued yesterday. The Fire Commission held its usual session but this was all that broke the monotony of the day. The question of a paid department was discussed and the usual amount of routine and department business transacted.

At the courthouse yesterday Ybarra, the Santa Monica burglar, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to one year's imprisonment in San Quentin. Six new informations were filed by the District Attorney. Three new citizens were admitted and Wright was granted a divorce. J. Marion Brooks has been awarded $3000 for defending Capt. Smith. An insane man from Baltimore was taken from a train and booked at the County Jail for safe keeping. He was enroute to Santa Barbara. The District Attorney has placed in the hands of Clerk Newlin an opinion respecting the rights of citizens to registration. Suits have been instituted to declare the offices of Trustees Casaboom and Almind of Long Beach vacant on account of violation of the "purity of elections" law. An accusation has been filed against Justice Morrison.

AT THE CITY HALL.

WOULD IT PAY?

THE PROPOSITION TO DISPENSE WITH CALLMEN.

Discussion of the Matter by the Board of Fire Commissioners. Miscellaneous Business Given Attention—City Hall Notes.

The proposition of putting the Fire Department of Los Angeles on a paid basis, was discussed yesterday at the meeting of the Board of Fire Commissioners and upon motion of Commissioner Vetter, the chief was instructed to make a report to the board next week, embodying in the same, an estimate of the increased cost, advantages, etc., of dispensing with the callmen, and making the department a paid one.

A report was made by the Chief with reference to the complaint made against the hay market at Seventh and San Pedro streets, to the effect that the market is not conducted in violation of any ordinance.

Fireman Jacobs was instructed to pay a debt due a Mrs. Williams, before August 1, or forfeit his position.

The Chief reported that all the fire hydrants had been tested under his supervision, those needing repairs being listed, and notification given the Water Company to repair these. The Chief also reported that Louis Schwartz had agreed to allow the Engine Company on West Third street to remain in its present quarters until the sixth of July.

A request from the Fourth of July Executive Committee, that the department be allowed to participate in the parade on Independence day was received and ordered filed.

A little spat occurred in the progress of the meeting, between Chief Moore and Commissioner Vetter, the latter complaining that the Chief was decidedly lax in attending to certain orders given in connection with the details of the department. The spat was the outcome of certain differences of opinion, which have come between the men in the past.

The matter of replacing the chemical engine on Belmont avenue, with a combination chemical hose wagon, and the one-horse low cart in Engine Company No. 7, with a two-horse cart, was referred to the Commission concerning the condition of the oil well district, from a fire hazard standpoint.

The petition of Steison to operate an engine in East Los Angeles was referred to the Chief.

ANNUAL ESTIMATES.

City Officials Preparing to Comply with the Charter.

Already the heads of departments in the City Hall are preparing their estimates of the amounts which they think will be necessary to have for the proper operation of their departments next year.

The following provision of the city charter is the authority of these officials for such action:

"Every official or board of the city shall make out and file with the City Auditor on or before the 15th day of July in each year, an estimate of the expenses of his office or department for the year commencing on the first day of July preceding said report."

It is probable that Chief Moore of the fire department will include in his estimate a provision for making the fire department of the city a paid department exclusively, if he is given authority to do so by the Fire Commission. To do this would require an extra appropriation of about $7000.

ROBBED HIS BENEFACTOR.

Two Prisoners in the City Jail and Their Story.

Seldom is it that both victim and robber serve sentences in jail side by side, but such is the case with Max Steinfeld and W. H. Wheeler, two prisoners in the City Jail. Both are charged with petty larceny.

Steinfeld's crime consisted of stealing a mileage book from a guest of the Westminster while he was a bellboy at that house. He had befriended Wheeler, who was out of work, and had allowed him to room with him. As soon as Steinfeld was sentenced to a term in jail for stealing the mileage book, Wheeler took his benefactor's value and his contents and pawned them. Detective Hawley arrested Wheeler, and yesterday afternoon he was fined $15 or fifteen days in jail.

MILLER WAS ABSENT.

Justice Morrison Issues a Warrant for a Witness.

John Kelly was before Justice Morrison yesterday to answer to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. It is alleged that Kelly struck a Chinaman in the face with a club, near the Plaza recently.

Owing to the absence of Alec Miller, one of the witnesses, the case was continued until today, and Justice Morrison issued a bench warrant for Miller, which was given to Deputy Constable Quinn to serve.

LEGAL OPINION UPON THE RIGHTS OF REGISTRATION.

Dist. Atty. Donnell Replies to Clerk Newlin—Absentees May Make Affidavit and Mail Their Registration Blanks—Legal Impediments.

A few days ago County Clerk Newlin asked Dist. Atty. Donnell for a written opinion upon some perplexing questions regarding the rights of citizens to registration. The following opinion was placed in the hands of the Clerk last night and covers the grounds very thoroughly:

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 17, 1896.

Mr. T. E. Newlin, County Clerk—Dear Sir: Answering your communication of recent date, permit me to say that the Great Register of the county was intended to be, and should be, a complete list of the legal voters of the county; and in my opinion, no name should appear therein, if the person is dead or removed from the county, or legally adjudged insane, convicted of embezzlement or misappropriation of public money, or any other infamous crime which I understand to mean a felony. This list is extended by the provisions of article 1 of the Constitution of California, which now reads as follows:

"Sub-divisions 6 and 7 of section 1097 of the Political Code, provides that a person's name may be entered upon the register by the Clerk upon the party filing an affidavit that he is or would be an elector of the county at the next succeeding election; and after all the other facts required to be stated in the entry on the register except the date and number of the oath."

"This affidavit may be made before anyone qualified to administer an oath, either in this or any other State."

The people of the State of California, by Atty.-Gen. W. F. Fitzgerald, upon relation of D. J. McCarthy vs. C. W. Casaboom, is the title of an action filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday.

The plaintiff recites the holding of a public election on April 13, 1896, in the town of Long Beach, at which said election Casaboom was elected as trustee for a term of four years, but failed to file with the County Clerk in accordance with the provisions of the "Purity of Elections" law. Further, that up to the time of filing this complaint, no such statement has been filed with the County Clerk and recorded in the office of the Recorder as provided by law.

McCarthy prays for judgment that the defendant is not entitled to said office and that he be ousted and excluded from all rights, privileges and duties of said office and for costs of suit.

D. J. McCarthy has also filed an action bearing the same plaintiff title against K. Almind, elected trustee of Long Beach at the same election. The allegations are made in reference to filing an itemized statement as required by the "Purity of Elections" law.

These causes have been set for hearing before Judge York.

AN ANXIOUS READER.

Falls to Fathom the Mysteries of the Hitting Ordinance.

Last Monday the City Council adopted a "hitching ordinance." Tuesday it was the Mayor for his signature and yesterday the Times printed the ordinance, in its local column.

The ordinance as it now stands is declared by some to be ambiguous and unintelligible and also full of holes to a large degree. A correspondent writes the paper, making inquiry as to what streets and ordinance is supposed to be operative upon. The correspondent says:

"I hitch my horse for an hour on Fourth or Fifth or Sixth or Seventh streets, between Main and Broadway, do I infringe the law? You say

NO, and pick up the ordinance to show me that it means the cross streets. First, Second and Third."

IT DOESN'T SAY SO.

In answer to this it may be said that reference is made to the ordinance which shows that the district affected by the ordinance is made up as follows: Main street between Temple and Fourth street; Spring street from Temple to Fourth; Broadway from a point 150 feet north of First street to a point 150 feet south of Third street and all intersecting streets between Temple and Fourth. On Second and Third streets the district is extended west of Broadway 150 feet. The correspondent continues (husily):

"If private owners are not charged for consent to use their curbstone, yet they may withhold that consent. Can they not impose any condition they please in granting it, and is there anything in that which anyone can make it criminal to do so. It may well be questioned that an ordinance is valid which requires the consent of any private individual to make it enforceable. Is there anything in that which the Council had its ordinances drawn up by a lawyer."

"As all ordinances adopted by the Council are drawn by the City Attorney, I understand that the Council has no intention to be drawn from his latter statement. Either he is ignorant of that-fact or wished to insinuate that William Dunn is not what he professes to be.

Wrecks Along the Street-Side.

Off-times tobacco's victims look at the dying spark in the cigar stump or at the big masticated "chaw" of tobacco just expectorated, and with nervous nicotineated with tobacco, mentally resolved to quit. "Now, that is the best thing I will never use it again. It is injuring me physically and financially. I am sure my nerves are so irritated that I can't stand this least annoyance. What is the result? These goods are so powerful that they tobacco paralyze the cravings of millions of tobacco nerve centers and when the effect wears off, the nerve centers, showing the effects of the use of tobacco is not a disease of the nervous system caused by the use of the nerve to crave for the nicotine poisoning. The case of a North Carolina clergyman, who writes:

HILLSBORO, N. C.
Gentlemen: Two weeks ago I began to use No-To-Bac, and I am now prepared to give to my unquarrelled and satisfied soul, and precisely what is claimed for it. I have been an incredible elation of the wind of joy that swept over me as I overcame the habit without the aid of any medicine. I was in the 19th day of January I began to use No-To-Bac and I was able to give it up. I had used three boxes my desire for tobacco was completely gone. I felt like a new man. Your remedy is indeed a great one. I will enable any man to give it up and will carry out your directions to the letter. I have given it to my wife and she has given it to her mother and it gives me great pleasure to give it to my friends. Very truly yours,

J. H. MCKENNEY

Does it not suggest itself that the apparent reason why a man is unable to take a remedy that is apparently so easily prepared to overcome the nerve-cure is that he is not in a normal and healthy condition? You will find it in No-To-Bac. If No-To-Bac fails to cure you, you are not in a normal and healthy condition.

How a Horseman Saved a Young Woman's Life.

Yesterday afternoon a woman was riding her horse near the corner of Seventh and Pearl streets. Her horse became unmanageable. The woman lost the reins and the animal dashed madly down Seventh street. The rider's hat was blown off. She was terrified, and shrieked for help at the top of her voice.

Frank E. Cochran, the stalwart policeman who guards the chain gang, was in a barber shop at the corner of Seventh and Broadway. He saw the horse dash down the street and the screams. Cochran rushed out, leaped astride his horse and tore down the street in pursuit.

He overtook the runaway horse just as it reached Los Angeles street—within three blocks—and caught the woman as she fell fainting into his arms. The unlucky rider was carried into a nearby house and was soon herself again.

DOWN TO REDONDO.

The Chamber of Commerce will have an excursion. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday steps were taken for an excursion of the Chamber of Commerce to Redondo in the near future. A committee recently appointed to arrange for such an excursion reported that an invitation had been received from the Redondo Railway Company, asking the members to go down some afternoon to the beach. The committee was instructed to accept the invitation and arrange for the excursion.

A communication was read from Secretary Stuart of the Associated Charities, asking the chamber to take some action with a view to securing the appointment of a Mexican Consul in this city. The president and secretary were instructed to communicate to the Mexican government the desire of the commercial interests of this city that such an appointment should be made.

The question of the participation of the Chamber of Commerce in the Pure Food show at Boston was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

A large number of new members were added to the chamber, the list comprising: William T. Smith & Co., J. Zeeland, Adams & McKee, Diamond Bros., J. Jepson & Son, D. B. Jenne, Parry Shirt Company, Naurath & Cass Hardware Co., Joe Fohelm, Barker Bros., Kern River and Los Angeles Electric Power Co., Axelsson Bros., E. T. Casey, W. J. Hunsaker, Allen Bros. & Co., Pacific Postal Telegraph Company, Sunset Wine Company, John P. Jackson, Norton Drake Co., Crescent Laundry, C. T. CITY MISSION WORK.

Striving to Uplift the Floating Population.

An interesting service was held at the Central Presbyterian Church last evening in the interests of city missions. The choir furnished excellent music. Superintendent Mason of the Pacific Gospel Union spoke on "City Missions."

Mr. Mason said it is true that Los Angeles is an evangelized city. The gospel is preached extensively. Churches and missions abound, and the moral life of the city is above the average. It is also true that thousands of men drift into Los Angeles, attracted by the climate, or the city's reputation for enterprise, and a number come as simple drifters. These are the men who drift into petty crimes and land in the chain-gang.

A large class of this floating population consists of the odd-job men, who have never learned to do one thing well. These must be cared for and led into the path of industry. They must come under the power of the gospel. Their hearts changed and then they will not eat the bread of idleness. The Pacific Gospel Union has found employment for 845 men and assisted in some way, 38,628 cases; 1623 have professed conversion, but something more than getting men started is needed. They need help, good companionship, better environments, and all the means of grace. At the close of the address Rev. Dr. Fowler and several others spoke along the line of this progressive, quiet, practical city mission work.

HAPPY YOUNGSTERS.

Generous Philanthropist Gives Little Waifs a Treat.

Through the generosity of Miss E. M. Stevens, an Englishwoman staying at Pasadena, 150 little waifs and strays were yesterday given a day's pleasure of a kind that was probably unprecedented in their former little lives. Miss Stevens discovered that there were many poor children in Los Angeles who had never seen the ocean, so she set about collecting an excursion party to the seaside. Mrs. E. R. Threlkeld and Miss Houser of the Newsboys' Home, interested themselves in this plan of giving pleasure to the little ones, and the Salvation Army lent efficient aid in getting the children together, and overseeing the excursion.

The hungry youngsters were given a four-course dinner at the Santa Monica Hotel, after an hour of fun in the surf by way of an appetizer, and then each child had a soul-satisfying spin in the merry-go-round, by way of aiding digestion. After the trip in the train and homeward bound, each child was given a flower and a card upon which was printed a prayer, and the chaplains of the excursion looked out for the more material wants with gifts of buns, oranges and generous chunks of pie.

FOUGHT FOUR MEN.

Drunken Railroad Man Refuses to Be Searched.

A drunken railroad man of powerful physique created a disturbance at the corner of Second and Spring streets last night, and a night watchman attempted to arrest him. Officer Cox and Deputy Constable Quinn, who were sent in from the Police Station, saw the fight, and went to the watchman's assistance. The fellow was marched to police headquarters, where he said his name was Cummings. He refused to submit to the customary search, and attempted to throw the officers off. Officer Long appeared on the scene, and the belligerent drunk was thrown to the floor, and in spite of his struggles, was searched and then locked up.

Smelled to Heaven.

While moving along South Spring street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, yesterday afternoon, a heavily laden garbage wagon broke down and a number of barrels of the foul-smelling load were scattered along the street. Pedestrians and street-car passengers held their nostrils while passing the spot, and the men who drove the wagon were nearly driven from home.
